

The FHLBank System was created by the Federal Home Loan Bank Act of 1932 as a government sponsored enterprise to support mortgage lending and community investment. The System consists of 11 regional FHLBanks, the Office of Finance, and the Council of Federal Home Loan Banks.

Each FHLBank is a privately capitalized cooperative owned by its members. The FHLBanks are located in Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Cincinnati, Dallas, Des Moines, Indianapolis, New York, Pittsburgh, San Francisco, and Topeka. Their regional distribution enables each FHLBank to focus on the distinct needs of their individual communities.

The FHLBanks' collective membership consists of roughly 6,500 financial institutions across the country, including large commercial banks, small community banks, credit unions, insurance companies, and community development financial institutions (CDFIs).

Affordable Housing Program

On an annual basis, each FHLBank must set aside at least 10 percent of its prior year's income to fund its Affordable Housing Program (AHP). AHP funding is available through two distinct programs – an AHP competitive application program that is generally targeted for development of multifamily housing, and a set-aside program that is targeted toward individual borrowers or homeowners.
